The job hunting process in India has improved manifold following continual efforts to create multiple opportunities for budding professionals. Owing to this, many organisations are compelled to cast a wider net in the job hunting realm via campus placement/hiring.

Conducting job interviews within various education institutions gives its students an opportunity to embark on their professional journey with esteemed organisations. Students, who are either pursuing a college programme or graduating, are eligible for such interviews.

Expert focused on some key traits that employers are looking for in potential job seekers:

1. Quick learners - Ability to gain new skills faster:
2. Interpersonal and communication skills:
3. Ability to take ownership - Initiative and accountability for one's work
4. Never say never' attitude - Eagerness to take responsibility over and above one's job profile:
5. Problem solving skills - Finding creative solutions for complex issues:
6. Sincerity, hard work and perseverance - Key attributes of a potential employee:
7. Team player:
8. Personal credibility and integrity:
9. Likeability factor - Building rapport within the company:
10. Ability to multitask:
